

FISCAL NOTE

HB 1608 - SB 1995

February 16, 2005

SUMMARY OF BILL: Reduces from 24 to 23 the age at which children of public school teachers may receive a 25 percent tuition discount at any state institution of higher education.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

Decrease State Expenditures - Net Impact - Not Significant

Assumptions:

- Reducing the eligibility to receive the tuition discount by one year, from 24 to 23 years of age, would not decrease the cost of the program or generate any significant amount of savings. Therefore, any decrease in state expenditures is estimated to be not significant.
- Even with this change in eligibility, the state would still be generating less revenue than the program currently costs.
